ON FRIDAY

Thirsty People To Vote

Thirsty ratepayers of the area south of Sidney Waterworks District will meet in the Farmers' Pavilion at the experimental station to discuss means of installing a piped water system.

Meeting will take place on Friday evening at 8 p.m. and is sponsored by the Dean Park Property Owners' Association.

Main speaker will be J. W. Gibbs, of Deep Cove, who will outline the problems and probable costs of installing a water system.

No positive figures will be offered regarding the cost. The meeting will be asked to authorize the circulation of a petition to form a water district. Only after the formation of the district can positive figures of cost be established.

The procedure is that which has already been undertaken by the property owners of Deep Cove and Patricia Bay and the Curteis Point and district ratepayers.

Authority to form a water district does not include the authority to proceed with a water system. The ratepayers concerned must vote on a further by-law before any construction can be authorized.

EARLY SHIP

Picture Was S.S. Amelia He Avers

Picture of an early ferry vessel which appeared in The Review last November has been identified by a former C.P.R. skipper as the Amelia entering Vesuvius Bay.

The retired seaman is Capt. A. R. Phelps, of Victoria, who has 48 years of service with the C.P.R. to his credit.

The ship was a sidewheeler and lay against a pier. There was no indication with the original picture as to where it had been taken.

Capt. Phelps suggested that the identity of the location would have been more readily made had the background been less misty.

The Amelia, he states, is the only coastal vessel which answers to all the features of the vessel depicted.

Squadron Staff At Dinner

Staff of the Sidney (Kinsmen) Air Cadet Squadron were guests of the Kinsmen Club at a dinner on Tuesday evening.

Introduced by Air Cadet Committee Chairman Hugh Loney, P.L.C., J. R. Hamman explained the problems of the year and recalled the standing achieved by his unit in past years.

Annual inspection on May 14 will be the fourth such inspection since the squadron was formed, said the commanding officer. In past years the unit has maintained an average standing of above 80 per cent, he reported.

Also in attendance were F.O. Keith Hamilton, F.O. Frank Richards and Gerald Roussen.

NEW FERRY TO ENTER MAINLAND SERVICE ON MAY 1 AS FOUR TRIPS PLANNED DAILY

Hourly ferry service between Vancouver and Victoria will start May 1, following acceptance of the M.V. "City of Vancouver" by Premier W. A. C. Bennett Wednesday (April 18).

Premier Bennett, chairman of the B.C. Toll Authority Ferry System, formally accepted the new 1000-passenger ferry at sea from President Clarence Wallace of Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd.

The "City of Vancouver" will join the "City of Victoria," Chinook and Kahloke in providing daily capacity this summer for 17,000 passengers and 1,800 cars. Capacity of the "City of Vancouver" is 110 cars.

TWO-HOUR CRUISE

Nearly 1,000 guests joined Premier Bennett, Mr. Wallace, Mayors Tom Alsbury, of Vancouver, R. B. Wilson, of Victoria and other dignitaries in a two-hour cruise of the Vancouver area on Wednesday afternoon last week.

The new ferry brings the B.C. Toll Authority Ferry System fleet to 13, with two more ferries being built in Victoria and a further two announced by Premier Bennett.

One of the features of the new ferry is an elevator, built specifically to aid the aged and infirm who cannot easily climb stairs. There will be a restaurant seating 144 people, plus a coffee shop.

Passenger comfort has been cared for with the provision of a heating and air-conditioning system of the latest design; the beam has been widened by four feet seven inches to provide more space between cars and add greater comfort to passengers entering and leaving their cars.

TWIN SCREWS

In the main propulsion equipment, the vessel is powered by four Ruston-Paxman diesel engines capable of developing 6,000 B.P.H. and providing a fully-loaded speed of 18 knots. The twin screws add to manoeuvrability and this is further enhanced by twin rudders and a 500 H.P. bow propeller of Kamewa design.

General manager of the B.C. Toll Authority is M. P. Aldous and assistant general manager is R. B. Worley.

"INDIVIDUAL APPROACH"

New Private School To Open Here For September Term

Plans are going ahead for the opening next September of the new Vancouver Island College for boys on Saanich Peninsula.

Negotiations are now being made to acquire a large house standing in 8½ acres with its own waterfront. There will be adequate provision for physical education but the main emphasis will be on intellectual achievement and the development of a mature personality.

The headmaster, Rev. David W. Fox, M.A., is a staunch advocate of the individual approach.

"Courses will be planned for each boy, and he will be assigned to different work-groups in different subjects," said Mr. Fox.

"Because a boy is good at mathematics, it does not therefore follow he has a special aptitude for languages," says the headmaster, "so we believe in grouping according to ability in each subject."

"When a boy has mastered a

Hourly Ferry service between Vancouver and Victoria starts May 1 following the acceptance of the "City of Vancouver," April 18 by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, chairman of the B.C. Toll Authority Ferry System. The Hon. Clarence Wallace, president of Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd., turned the ferry over to Premier Bennett at a ceremony held at sea before 1,000 guests. The new ferry joins the City of Victoria, Chinook and Kahloke in starting an hourly service between Vancouver and Victoria, May 1.

Native Son And Veteran Of Navy Is Legion President

Re-elected to the presidency of Saanich Peninsula branch of the Royal Canadian Legion is John S. Gorton, McTavish Road.

Native son of North Saanich, Mr. Gorton is a member of the staff of the department of transport at Patricia Bay Airport. Educated in local schools, he enlisted in the Royal Canadian Navy during the Second World War. Following a training course in automotive engineering, he relinquished his association with his brother, T. J. Gorton to join the department of transport.

He has been an active member of the Legion branch for a number of years and was elected president a year ago.

Mr. Gorton is married and lives within a stone's throw of his childhood home, with his wife and daughter, Kathryn.

TARGET OF 50

Applications are now coming in steadily, and it is hoped to reach the initial target of 50 pupils shortly. Numbers will then be restricted.

Vancouver Island College will teach the equivalent of Grade eight through Grade 12, and there will be a preparatory department, as well.

The headmaster in an Anglican clergyman and the religious policy of the college will be Anglican, though boys of other denominations will be accepted.

Provision is being made for 15 boarders, but most of the pupils will be day boys living on the Saanich Peninsula.

ONE HOUR FORWARD

More Work In Gardens As Clocks Go Ahead This Week

Long evenings, late sessions in the garden and summer lie ahead. On Saturday night times will change and daylight-saving time will be introduced. Readers must advance their clocks one hour on Saturday night before retiring.

By advancing the clock one hour the householder loses an hour's sleep. Failure to modify his timepiece will leave him out of step with the rest of the world on Sunday morning.

Fire Chief Explains Mouth To Mouth Aid In Breathing

Visitor to North Saanich on Tuesday evening was Fire Chief C. E. Rowles, of Central Saanich Volunteer Fire Department. Chief Rowles addressed the Kinsmen Club of Sidney on the subject of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Introduced by club member Ronald Chisholm, Chief Rowles explained that the function of a fireman was more and more concerned with emergency treatments and that most fire departments now operated an emergency ambulance. In his own department nearly 20 firemen are qualified in first aid, he noted.

His lecture was accompanied by a film depicting the mode and effect of such resuscitation.

Though not as effective as the resuscitator, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is the only positive immediate means of ensuring that an unconscious person gets oxygen, said the speaker.

Mill Rate Falls By 1.9 Mills

For the second year in succession mill rate has fallen in Central Saanich, following a drop in the school mill rate.

Rates this year will stand at 17.6 mills for schools and 12.5 for municipal purposes. The new figure represents a drop of 1.9 mills. In 1961 the school mill rate fell two mills.

Parts Are Landed At Fulford

Some anxious moments were experienced by residents of Fulford last week when the necessary parts for the Motor Princess were flown in by helicopter.

The helicopter appeared unable to locate Shaw's field in which it was scheduled to land. Capt. G. A. Maude, himself a veteran skipper of the crippled ferry and her sister ships, directed the aircraft to its appointed landing ground by waving a shirt.

The Motor Princess was soon ready for service and is again maintaining her regular service among the islands.

No Trouble

Two local men were among the thousands of people to visit the Seattle World Fair on opening day last Saturday. M. R. Eaton and his brother, Gordon, had no trouble in booking airplane tickets to Seattle or in finding accommodation when they arrived in that city. Only 15 minutes after landing in Seattle, the two brothers had secured a room with twin beds and bath.

The changes that have been made in the area where the fair is located are "just terrific" according to Mr. Eaton. The brothers spent two days at the fair and were surprised at the benefits they received with their admission tickets.

They found only one inconvenience. In some instances, they were obliged to line up for the exhibits. They think it is a good show and well worth seeing. The brothers hope to journey to Seattle again to see more of the fair and also review what they saw in their first trip.

Island Home Is Razed

—At Galiano

Fire of unknown origin completely levelled the beautiful Galiano home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Dyer on Friday, April 20. It began about 8.30, and although the owners and most of the people of the island came to help, nothing could be done to save the house.

No one was injured. Dr. H. D. Barner, and Dr. E. Ledgerwood were in attendance.

Effects of the family, daughters Sherry and Melody, and Mrs. Dyer's mother, Mrs. Finch, were all destroyed. Melody is one of the candidates to be confirmed soon, and her new confirmation dress was also lost.

The family spent the night with another daughter, Mrs. W. Besler, and will camp out on their property until the new house, which they are planning to build immediately, is completed.

VISITORS HERE

Mrs. H. Jerome and daughter Louise, of Vancouver, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. M. C. Sumpton, Wains Cross Road. Mrs. Jerome is the mother of Harry Jerome, who captured the 100-yard dash, Saturday, March 26 in 9.5 seconds in San Jose, California.

WORK OF ACTIVE CHAMBER SUMMARIZED AT BANQUET

Activities of the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce over the past year were summarized by the secretary, Rod Price Davies at the recent annual banquet held in Brenta Lodge. Following are the main projects undertaken by the chamber from the period of May, 1961, to April, 1962.

- A committee of chamber members instigated and petitioned the local residents of Brentwood Bay, for installation of an adequate street lighting program for the area. This project was successfully completed and subsequently approved by the Central Saanich municipal council.
- The roads committee, working with John Tisdale, M.L.A., were successful in having West Saanich Road re-designated as Highway 17-A, and have been assured that plans for re-building of this highway will be commenced during 1962.
- A delegation from the chamber met with the Minister of Highways to plead for a scenic route connecting the Patricia Bay Highway and the West Saanich Road (McTavish Road). In addition, there was a formal resolution placed before the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, to protest any suggestion of removal of the Brentwood-Mill Bay ferry from its terminal at Brentwood.
- Multiple signs within Central Saanich have been given a great deal of consideration by a committee formed for this purpose. Although this study has not been completed, a lot of work and thought has gone into it, and within the next few months it should be concluded.
- The chamber worked closely with other chambers during the year, both directly and through A.C.C.V.I. in respect of expropriation of the B.C. Electric, tourism, and trading stamps. Also with the Victoria chamber, supporting their views on extension of daylight saving time.
- A committee was formed to check into the post office facilities in Brentwood Bay. The chamber is at present awaiting results of a postal district survey, and if additional facilities are required the chamber will wholeheartedly support the community in an effort to secure these facilities.
- A committee has been formed to investigate the possibility of having N.I.A. financing re-instituted in the Brentwood area. This investigation will continue, and will work with the municipal council and local M.L.A. towards this end.
- A well-attended meeting of all federal candidates seeking office was sponsored in the by-election.
- In addition, the chamber gave full support to many and varied community activities, such as the Brentwood Fall Fair, North and South Saanich Agricultural Fair, the Christmas Parade and the Strawberry Festival.

Mr. Davies told the assembled members and guests that formal investigation of the incoming officers and directors will take place at the regular meeting at Brenta Lodge on Monday, May 7.

PROMOTIONS ONLY ON MERIT

Sweeping Changes Proposed For Island School Program

Sweeping changes in the administration of the school were among the recommendations made to the trustees of Gulf Islands School District when J. M. Evans, principal of Ganges elementary-high school, addressed the board recently.

Mr. Evans asked the board to consider his recommendations for adoption in June. He explained that they are based on the recommendations of the Chant Report.

Recommendations presented to the school board were in part devoted to promotion policies and partially concerned with modifications to the curriculum.

There will be no "social" promotions. Students who fail two subjects in a year will repeat the year.

same subjects (with or without correspondence. Mr. Evans cited English 20 and 30 in one year as an example.

Everything possible will be done to transfer full-credit students of only "P" (C-) level to general program.

In the matter of extramural studies (correspondence or summer school) of the principal must accompany the application to enroll in a specific course; (b) not more than one five-credit course may be undertaken; (c) borderline students of general "P" standing and deficient by one five-credit course, will not be allowed to remove the deficiency by these means—they will repeat; (d) able students will be permitted to remove a probable five-credit deficiency by correspondence, only if the course is started in May and completed by September's opening day. Only those students of superior potential and proven academic worth will be permitted to carry a course load of 35 credits in any one year.

Principal Pursues Report

September's opening day.

Only those students of superior potential and proven academic worth will be permitted to carry a course load of 35 credits in any one year.

CURRICULUM CHANGES

Cusenaire method of teaching arithmetic has been very successful in grade one this year. Teachers in higher grades are interested, said Mr. Evans.

A new mathematics program is planned for grades 3 and 8. University mathematics course 203 has been adapted to grade 8 level, said Mr. Evans. Philosophical logic and abstract mathematics, formerly university subjects, are being brought into high school teaching, he said.

Chemistry 91-molecular bonding. In this subject university work is again brought down to high school level, said Mr. Evans, adding that two years in chemistry, physics and biology will be required. There is now greater stress on scientific libraries. Students must have reading ability, said Mr. Evans. He referred to district-wide examinations as thinking exercises.

DISPARITY

George Hemekey noted that while high school pass mark is 50 to 55 per cent, a mark of 60 per cent is required for university entrance. He said this fact should be pub-lized by the department of education.

The emphasis in teaching is on intellectual development, said Mr. Evans. Students will have to work harder. A school of the size of Salt Spring can only offer general program. It is not large enough to offer vocational training, he said.

The teaching aim, said Mr. Evans, should be to develop in students an ability to think, and to prepare them for academic or technical education. Mr. Evans said he would like to keep general program and university program students separate, to achieve better student response and participation in teaching programs.

New Milk Testing Idea In Britain

By D.L.H.
I am past the age of applauding sports, athletics and other feats of physical prowess, but I am positively exhilarated when I read of the marvellous inventions which men are continually pouring into the world, and most of them connected with electronics.

In an "old country" paper recently sent to me, I hear of a revolutionary method of testing milk.

The new device, which is for testing solids, fat and anything else in milk, has passed the scientists, and is on the verge of commercial development.

It is operated on a push button basis, and the machine immediately flashes the necessary information to a recorder. This device is welcomed as a wonderful machine, which will soon be available to factories, and because of it, a new grade of better milk will be put on the market at a slightly higher price.

Last year the mid-western region spent two and one-half millions of pounds on sales promotion efforts, and consequently there were 27 million more gallons of milk sold. This money spent on publicizing their products was provided by the trade. By the same token English cheeses had been put squarely on the map.

Apparently this method of testing milk uses radar and X-ray.

It Strikes Me

By VIVIAN COWAN

Last Friday's "Tournament of Champions" at the Sidney Lanes attracted a large spectator crowd, and from all reports, both the spectators and the bowlers thoroughly enjoyed themselves. After drawing a number for their starting alley, the seven teams of four bowlers moved to the next alley as they completed each game. Winner of the 'Sidney Lanes Champion Trophy' was Jeff Worral, who bowled a total of 1271 for the five-game series. Barbara (Pixie) Stark, one of the five women contenders, followed in second place with 1138. Ten of the 28 bowlers finished with an average of 200 or better, and in third place was Graham Rice with 1128; Carl Knutson, 1096; Wilmer Mitchell, 1092; Don Norbury, 1086; John Franchuk, 1076; Dave Paribly, 1061; and Rom Knott and yours truly just over the 200 average with 1008 and 1001.

Spring leagues are starting at the Lanes the first week in May, and there are openings in the three sections for both individuals or teams. Starting Monday, May 7, from 7 to 9 p.m. is a mixed league; Wednesday, May 9, a mixed league is from 9 to 11 p.m. Tuesdays is a "Mr. and Mrs." league bowling from 7.30 to 9 p.m., with two couples to a team.

Last three leagues bowling this season had the following scores: Sidewinders VU33—High single, J. Carriere, 282; high triple, B. McAuley, 665; high team, Explorers, 2648.

Alleycats—High single (276) and high triple (736) Anos Nunn, high team, Tix Harlds, 2791.

Credit Union—High single (296) and high triple (609), M. Soos. Winners in the Credit Union League are as follows: Team No. 4, captained by Maxine Shillitto, took first place in the playoffs. Team members included Tom Sparling, Eric Dilleeson, Dorothy Ploves, and Joe Nunn.

Winners of the first half of the league was team No. 3, with Theo. Kramer, Peggy Pearson, John Pow, Fred Storey and captained by Rowena Deyotte. Second half winners were team No. 2, with Fred Campbell, Kathleen Strand, Tom Robinson, Bob McCormick, and captain, Evelyn John.

High average went to Lil Storey with 162, and Bud Nunn with 188. High gross to Maxine Shillitto with 643, and Jim Grundy 733.

High singles to Rowena Deyotte with 257 and Miki Soos with 327. Most improved bowlers of the year were Elsie McKay who raised her average from 96 to 142, and Bob McCormick whose average increased from 105 to 150. Credit Union Bowling Banquet was held on April 23.

Winners in the Thunderbird League are as follows: In the upper section Wilmer Mitchell's team took first place. Team members were Marie Dolron, Gordon Godfrey, Dorothy Kynaston and Ron Bleford. Second place team was captained by Bev. Tingstad, and third place team was that of Joe Nunn.

In the lower section first place went to Mel Baldwin's team, with members Janet Milligan, Ann Brathwaite, Ted Price and Agnes Bleford. Second place team was that captained by Wilf Tripp.

Red Cross campaign for funds has now reached $77,711.24—98.37 per cent of the total. Officials are quite pleased with the progress so far, although they point out that the time limit had to be extended one month to collect this amount. Residential areas have exceeded their quota by $267.

Anyone who has just returned from a vacation or was missed in the drive may leave their donations at Red Cross headquarters at 1046 Fort St., Victoria, or telephone EV 6-6181 and their donation will be picked up.

FINAL CARD PARTY TO BE HELD MAY 5

Final card party of this season's tournament will be held at the Legion Hall, Mills Road, on May 5, when all players will meet at the hall, including those that have regularly held their parties at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Green.

Winners of the April party were as follows: For 500, Mrs. Elsie Butler, and Mrs. A. Deveson; E. Tutte, and Robert McVey. Cribbage winners were Mrs. L. McIntosh and Mrs. R. Bacon, Charles Bacon and R. Baldwin. Winners of chicken dinners were Mrs. Alice Tebb and Mrs. A. Deveson, with the door prize going to Mrs. J. Riddell.

Legion members are reminded that the annual "Old Vets" party is being held on Friday, May 4, when the members of the auxiliary and legion from World War Two entertain members and wives of the First War Veterans.

to Lettie Larson and Graham Rice. High triples were scored by Jean Chambers and Wilmer Mitchell, and high singles by Bessie Roberts and Mel Baldwin.

The most improved bowlers of the year will be announced at the bowling banquet on April 27.

They Are Waiting To Speak?

Wax Figures Almost Eerie

There is something eerie about a room of men standing perfectly still, looking at the visitor, yet saying nothing. This effect is particularly evident in the section of Victoria's wax museum showing notable authors.

Brightly lighted and effectively clothed, the figures have an air of expectancy which is emphasized by the quiet.

The Royal London Wax Museum is already an integral part of tourism in Victoria. It is also an attraction of some note for the residents of Vancouver Island.

Breaking away from the old style of depicting figure after figure, the Victoria museum has devoted considerable effort to the settings. Each figure, or group of figures is set in a background readily assimilated by the circumstances by which he is known. Thus, Henry VIII, poor wretch, is surrounded by all six of his wives, a crowding he managed to escape by devious means when he was consorting with them separately. The mountain scene in which Sir Edmund Hillary and Sherpa Tenzing are seen is in keeping with the circumstances of their rise to fame.

The visitor ranges through the scenes of the past to modern affairs with the highlight of comic relief in the opportunity of making enquiries of the permanent staff.

New to the show this year is the chamber of horrors. The offerings in this section, which is not recommended for small children, range from the hanging which is familiar to every pursuant of western films to the grim ordeal of the Algerian Hook, transferred to its prominent place in the chamber of horrors.

Situated in the Crystal Gardens at the foot of Douglas St., the museum is a notable addition to the attractions of Victoria to the tourist and represents the style of attraction which could well be pursued in other directions. It is this type of entertainment which ultimately decides the tourist value of a city or a district—F.G.R.

Tourism Should Be Number One Industry Avers Guest Speaker

"Tourism should be made the number one industry on Vancouver Island," said Eric Charman, guest speaker at the annual banquet of Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce last week.

"Vancouver Island has all the assets of a good tourist centre," said the speaker, "and it is up to the various Chambers of Commerce on the island to see that natural surroundings, which are necessary to attract tourists, are not sacrificed for other less-important industries."

Mr. Charman spoke in place of the Hon. Kenneth Kiernan, Minister of Mines, who was unable to be in attendance, due to Premier W. A. C. Bennett's urgent meeting of all cabinet ministers in Vancouver.

Guests at the banquet at Brenta Lodge were the president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Walters, and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Frizzell. Mr. Frizzell is president of the Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce.

WIDELY TRAVELLED

Speaking without the aid of notes, Mr. Charman told his audience that he travelled a great deal during the past year—60,000 miles by airplane alone—and therefore felt that he was in a good position to comment on tourist facilities in other areas.

In the past year he was in such popular tourist centres as Mexico, Hawaii and the West Indies.

Mr. Charman averred that many of these holiday centres do not have as much to offer the vacationer as Vancouver Island.

"It is the way in which the traveller is handled that makes many of these places so attractive," noted the speaker. "There is an art to handling the vacationer which must be taught to the people on this island."

Mr. Charman is the chairman of the Jaycees Exhibition this year. He urged everyone to attend the fair this year and promised that it would be bigger and better than ever.

CENTRAL SAANICH

SAANICHTON

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Young and family, of Vancouver, spent the Easter week-end with Dr. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Young, Central Saanich Road.

A. Hunter, Mount Newton Cross Road, spent the Easter week-end in Westview, B.C., with his father.

There were eight tables of players when the South Saanich Women's Institute held their fortnightly card party recently. Winners were Mrs. R. Ratcliffe, Mrs. R. McVey, F. Mitchell and C. Mullin. Mrs. Lyons took the consolation prize. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. M. Meiklejohn and Mrs. L. Farrell.

GUARANTEE

Applause greeted his announcement that the Jaycees had guaranteed $25,000 to the University Development Fund from the proceeds of the fair.

"If we do not make this much out of the exhibition, we will make up the $25,000 out of our present funds," said the speaker. "This amount will be matched by the Provincial government so the development fund is guaranteed at least $50,000."

Speaking about Saanich Peninsula, Mr. Charman stated he felt that the Swartz Bay - Tsawwassen ferry service was the biggest thing ever to hit the peninsula.

Week Of April 27 To May 4 Is Girl Guide Cookie Week

The week of April 27 to May 4 is Girl Guide Cookie Week. This is the only time in which a province-wide appeal is made for support by the Girl Guide Association.

The cookies are the sandwich type, filled with vanilla cream and cost 40 cents per package.

Profits from the sale of the cookies are split in three ways. About one-third is kept by the pack or company to buy camping or other equipment or to help in some other way. One-third goes to the division and is used to bring trainers in to train new guides, and pay expenses incurred at the division level. The remaining one-third is used by the provincial office to help defray expenses for pamphlets, training and other needs.

Girl Guiding is a youth program for girls to which any nationality, race or creed may belong. It is helping to build a better world in 46 countries and now has six million members. In British Columbia alone there are 28,000 guides and brownies.

Girl Guiding teaches a code of

"I expect to see property values triple in this area within the next 10 years," he said, "and I think that many people will commute daily between the Peninsula and Vancouver."

TWO GENII EACH

Genius in Roman mythology, was a tutelary deity or protecting spirit. Every man was supposed to be accompanied from his cradle to his grave by two genii. The good genius brought all good things into his life, while the evil genius was responsible for whatever of unhappiness and misfortune fell to his lot. The peculiarities of mind and character which are closely associated with the career of each individual were ascribed to the genius. Thus arose the modern word, genius, to denote superior creative gift or endowment.

Family Leaves For Ontario After Five Years On Island

C. H. King and family, after five years' residence on James Island, are taking up residence on May 1 at Cornwall, Ontario, where Mr. King has been transferred as resident engineer with the C.I.L. plant at that location.

Like most James Islanders, "Bud" and his wife, Ruth, have been very active in community affairs. He served on the church committee and was chairman of the 3rd Tsartlip Group of the Scout committee. He was also vice-president of the Moore Club and served on the committee of the annual fishing derby.

Mrs. King was also active in the church group, being a Sunday School teacher and helping the women of the Island acquire themselves with layettes and articles of clothing for the Unitarian Services group. She was also active with the James Island P.T.A., serving as president and assisting on many committees.

Their daughter, Cathie, as a student at Mount Newton secondary school is active in sports, mainly grass hockey. She has taken prizes in concerts and was active in the James Island Sunday school and played badminton on the island.

Terry, Jeffrey and Leslie were students at James Island school, while their young brother, Scott, contented himself with enjoying trips with his mother to the beach or the general store.

BRENTWOOD

Brentwood United Church Women held the monthly meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. C. Hooper. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Hooper with "The Victory of Easter" as her theme. The next meeting will be on May 17, and it was decided that meetings will not be held in June and July. Approximately $60 was realized from the dessert party and showing of films, held recently, and tentative plans were made to hold another party when meetings are resumed after the summer holidays. A social hour was spent when tea was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Bickford spent a couple of days at Parksville visiting with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Schmidt and two granddaughters. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bickford and their granddaughter, Sharon, returned with them for a week's holiday.

Newcomers to the district are Mr. and Mrs. M. Darnel and three children from Victoria who have taken up residence on Columbia Drive.

Youngsters who have been celebrating their birthdays this past week included Dawne Palmer of Victoria who was eight years old. Dawne is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Delamere of Verdier Ave. Wendy Sawyer, of Brentwood, was also eight years old. Little Garry Stubbs celebrated his fourth birthday and his young cousin, Terry Combs, had his third birthday. Garry and Terry are grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Woodbridge, of Verdier Ave.

On Easter Sunday morning at the service of Brentwood United Church the Sunday school children placed flowers at the front of the church during the singing of the first hymn. These flowers were taken to those who were sick and unable to attend the Easter service. The congregation of the United Church was organized seven years ago last Tuesday, April 24.

Saanichton P.T.A. Votes $15 For Scholarship Fund

A donation of $15 was voted for the scholarship fund at Claremont senior secondary school at the April meeting of Saanichton elementary school P.T.A. There were 19 members present at the meeting. It was reported that there is now a total membership of 35.

The nominating committee elected to choose a slate of officers for the June meeting consists of Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. T. Pelter and Mrs. R. Bompas. Sports day at the school will be held on June 13 or, if weather does not permit, it will be held on June 20. P.T.A. members will assist with the managing of the events and will also help in transportation.

Following the business meeting, Mr. Petersen, of Family and Children's Service, outlined the work of the service and explained the work done. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. G. Underwood, Mrs. R. Bompas and Mrs. S. Fisher.

FIRST GREAT FAIRS

The idea of a modern industrial exposition originated with the French, with an exhibition of manufactures held in Paris in 1798. The results justified a second show in 1802. The idea was then taken up by other countries. The first great English exposition or World's Fair was held at London in 1851. There were 15,000 exhibitors from all parts of the world, and over 6,000,000 visitors.

"What is Important?"

by: David Groos,
LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR
ESQUIMALT-SAANICH RIDING

Greetings to my many friends throughout Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding.

A year ago I was privileged to carry the Liberal colors in a federal by-election. While I was unsuccessful in my first bid for office, the race was a very clean and close one and I am encouraged to offer my services to you again this year.

During the past 12 months, the voters of Esquimalt-Saanich have watched closely the activities of the Deifenbaker government and it is quite apparent that the Progressive Conservative party has lost ground in every province in Canada. It is obvious that the Liberal party is the only alternative to the wearied Tories and a Liberal sweep is freely predicted by informed Canadians.

During the next few weeks I will appear among you and will discuss freely the Liberal platform. I am satisfied that this campaign will be hard fought but it will be clean and educational. I respectfully invite your support at the polls on June 18.

IN OIL COMPANY JOURNAL

Multiple Choice Comes Under Fire Of Teacher

Some years ago a Sidney man was undergoing a driver's examination in Victoria while seeking to obtain his Class A license. The examiner was asking him a number of questions from the book of questions laid down. Among the normal, multiple choice questions, the contestant was required simply to say "yes" or "no."

Set orally, the questions failed to indicate this requirement. "Would you throw a lighted cigar or cigarette end from the car window?" asked the examiner. The candidate thought carefully. Finally he found his answer. "A cigarette," he replied. "I don't smoke cigars."

The answer arose from a failure to comprehend the question. Its significance was small, for the candidate finally received his license.

A similar mistake of comprehension in another field might well prove more disturbing.

OIL JOURNAL

In the April issue of the Imperial Oil Review, the house organ published by the oil company, a story by Dudley Bristow asks whether multiple choice questions are a reasonable test for school students. Mr. Bristow, who has taught history and economics for 20 years and is principal of a high school in Ontario, answers the question with a very emphatic "no."

The writer takes a list of questions from examinations set in various provinces. He then offers a series of answers. In each case the student was required to give the appropriate answer. In most cases the writer proves that more than one answer is perfectly correct, although the student would be marked wrong for any but the answer visualized by the examiner.

ACADEMIC COURSE

When a new Canadian was living in Sidney several years ago he undertook an academic course in order to bring his English up to the standard of his native tongue. He abandoned the course.

"If the questioner asks, 'What fruit is round and contains pips,' he is referring to an apple," said the student, "and if the student says 'orange' he is marked wrong."

NOT A FAIR SYSTEM

4-H Clubs To Sponsor Concert

The major argument against multiple choice questions, says Mr. Bristow, is that they discourage thinking.

OPPORTUNITY LOST

"The opportunity to read widely, think clearly and make intelligent judgments is lost," he says. In New Brunswick the department of education has outlawed multiple choice questions in examinations.

"We believe there is a strong tendency for the candidates to resort to guessing," he reports the provincial director of education as stating.

Multiple choice discourages the thinking process, he says bluntly. Examinations are not a true measure of academic achievement, admits the writer. But there is no better criterion that a carefully set and carefully marked examination coupled with an analysis of the student's accomplishments during the course of his scholastic career.

While multiple choice or "objective-type questions" are inadequate and actually unfair, there is only one clear-cut answer, says the educationalist. The essay is the most comprehensive and revealing form of examination. In its disfavor lies the fact that it also requires the most searching correction.

One student can mark any other student's papers under the multiple choice system. Only a qualified and earnest examiner can assess the essay.

B.C. LEADER

In the general use of multiple choice questions in school examinations, B.C. leads the field in Canada with a massive 40 to 60 per cent of such questions in some examinations reports the writer. In other provinces they occur in a descending scale down to the outright prohibition in New Brunswick. Alberta reports less than 15 per cent and Nova Scotia "very few."

This enthusiasm for simple and not always accurate questions has crept into unexpected fields. They are to be found in a number of Sunday school courses. The teacher without the remotest knowledge of Christianity might well graduate as a minister by chance selection of the right answer.

Is the multiple choice really a test? ask the writer. Is it?

4-H Clubs To Sponsor Concert

CONCERT

The more than 100 young people between the ages of 10 and 21 who are members of the local 4-H club are sponsoring an entertainment night at the Saanichton Agricultural Hall on Friday, April 27, to raise funds for their building at the fair grounds. The old army hut which was moved to the grounds and was blown over during a winter storm, has now been set up. The 4-H club is supplying the funds to put the building in usable condition and will be responsible for its upkeep.

The concert, performed by a group known as The Gypsy Clan, are all pupils of Miss "Gypsy" Mahaffey of Elk Lake, and include a number of festival award winners. Solos, duets and group numbers will include a wide variety of songs; favorite old ballads, Welsh, Irish and German numbers, negro spirituals, operatic selections and formal recital numbers. During an intermission, members of the 4-H Square Dance Club will perform.

A FORESIGHTED POLICY

ONE of the most widely-hailed, loudly-commended and bitterly-fought documents to appear in the field of provincial education for many years was the final report of the Chant Commission. The advocates of the report were strongly in favor of its implementation in its entirety. The opponents, obviously, sought nothing of the kind. The larger section of the populace, unacquainted with the terms of the report or the conditions which led to its production, saw a new series of recommendations following one of the most careful investigations of educational facilities for many years.

A number of features of the report have already been adopted. There are still critics who aver that only those sections of the report which cost no money are likely to be acceptable to the government. While such a criticism applies in particular to the commission's recommendations on the establishment of vocational and other more specialized schools, there is a second factor obtaining in this connection. The trustees of the various school districts concerned must be convinced of the need for such a facility within their own districts before any action can be taken.

By no means one of the largest school districts of the province, the Gulf Islands School District bids well to becoming one of the most progressive.

A foresighted school board coupled with a principal who has set his sights high may well bring the Gulf Islands to be among the first in the province to adopt those sections of the Chant report which appear most closely concerned with the ultimate product of the school system.

A series of recommendations presented by the principal of Ganges school, J. M. Evans, visualizes a new form of promotion control within the school, a modified curriculum and a drive for the production of a highly accomplished student at the close of the twelfth year of attendance.

There have been many innovations into education in recent years. Many have been thoroughly tested and proved. Others have become a nuisance to the scholar and drag on the standards accomplished by the school. The recommendations under discussion at Ganges show no likelihood of offering support to the latter category.

There are two features of Mr. Evans' report which are an attractive encouragement in the face of the innumerable problems facing students today. Mr. Evans emphasizes that the primary function of the school today is to encourage the student to think and to teach him how to accomplish it. In past years there have been so many purposes mooted and so many excuses offered that it is a pleasant relief to find so sound a basis put forward.

The second point made by the principal is the suggestion the student should graduate at the close of his 12th year in readiness for university. This is incontestable.

Perhaps it is because the Gulf Islands School District is a small one that we can find a clear, foresighted policy shaping up. If this is the case, then let us see more compact, self-contained school districts by all means. The Gulf Islands are leading the way!

H. A. ROWBOTTOM

Achieves 25 Years Service With Local Industrial Firm

H. A. Rowbottom, formerly residing on James Island and presently employed with Canadian Industries there, has just completed 25 years with that company and has joined 23 other employees who have worked for a quarter of a century with the company on James Island.

Art Rowbottom has had a varied career, spending much of his time as an N/G operator, both on James Island and with Defence Industries Limited at Winnipeg. Since then he has been a clerk in the high explosives office and is now a laboratory technician.

As part-time duties, Mr. Rowbottom also serves as first-aid attendant at the plant on James Island and has represented James Island as school trustee with School District No. 63 (Saanich) for a number of years.

BOLSHOI BALLET TO FOLLOW "ALL HANDS ON DECK"

Another laugh sensation, "All Hands On Deck," starring Pat Boone, Barbara Eden, Buddy Hackett, and Dennis O'Keefe will be shown at the Gem Theatre in Sidney from April 26 to 28.

In this hilarious comedy with a United States Navy setting, popular singing star Pat Boone plays the part of a navy lieutenant and Barbara Eden takes the part of a girl reporter, whose ideas for getting a good story come into conflict with navy regulations.

Following "All Hands On Deck," the Rotary Club of Sidney will present "The Bolshoi Ballet" at the Gem on April 30, May 1 and 2.

This movie, filmed in color, stars Galina Ulanova, Raissa Struchkova, Nikolai Fadeyevich and the Bolshoi Theatre Ballet, with the orchestra of the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden and the Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra. The presentation includes the Dance of the Tatars, Spanish Dance, Spring Water, Polonaise and Crocovie, "Walpurgisnacht," The Dying Swan and the Giselle Ballet in two acts.

Tickets for this outstanding feature are available from Cunningham's Gift Store, Sidney, Cornish's Gift Shop, or from any member of the Sidney Rotary Club. Doors will be open at 7:30 p.m. and the film will start at 8 p.m.

Big Attendance At Smorgasbord In Galiano Lodge

About 65 people attended the famous smorgasbord at the Galiano Lodge, on Saturday, April 21.

Two sittings were required before all the enthusiastic people were fed. The long table was resplendent with Easter baron of beef, baked stuffed salmon, deviled Easter eggs, glazed ham, Easter rabbit, potato salad, Chinese vegetables, chicken barbara, duchess potato nests, perfection moulded cabbage and birds nest salad. Dessert was petit fours, straw boater cake, and the beautiful mauve Easter bonnet cake, complete with coffee.

During the evening Ted Godfrey played the spinet organ, and also one of the guests, Mrs. Marjorie LeStrange, of West Vancouver, who is a well-known professional entertainer, although not there in her professional capacity, delighted the guests by her singing and piano playing.

"Elizabeth Jenkins. Leicester." by Elizabeth Jenkins. Gallancz. 371 pp.

In the course of 371 pages the problems and frustrations of one of England's great rulers are examined and analyzed. The writer of this book is already known as a competent Elizabethan historian by her earlier work, "Elizabeth the Great." The former book was concerned with the relationship between Elizabeth and England. This is concerned with the relationship between Elizabeth and Leicester.

It was inevitable that history would examine somewhat closely the private life of a queen who remained single throughout her life. It is not quite so logical that such historical examination should lead to the assumption that she was averse to any intimate association with her male acquaintances. Nevertheless, there is little published today which holds any other view. Whereas the first Elizabeth had been popularly visualized as the ardent companion of several men, history now sees her as a frigid woman without an error to her name.

It is on this general foundation that the book enters into the history of the association between the queen and the Earl of Leicester.

Whether or not Elizabeth was happy in her choice of companions is something which probably she alone could settle. There is little doubt that she had a flair for choosing men who were destined to write England's history.

The author gives a scholarly and extensive picture of England of

PATRICIA BAY HAZARD

WHAT is happening to Patricia Bay Highway? Originally visualized as a high-speed link between Victoria and Patricia Bay Airport, the highway was later reduced in status by the joint decision of the federal and provincial governments to that of a normal highway. When the route was selected to pass over most of the territory already used by the original highway it was announced that the new road would not be an express highway.

It was constructed and used with that status in mind. Then came the Swartz Bay ferry connection with Vancouver. The highway was extended northwards to connect with the ferry wharf. Although still purely a highway and by no means promoted to an express thoroughway, the road gained an impetus in speed from 50 to 60 m.p.h. in many parts of its course.

Now handling a considerably greater volume of traffic, the only gesture offered to meet the added burden was this change in limit. The highway was a two-lane affair throughout its course and offered little to the motorist.

The government insisted for a time on eliminating slow traffic from its course and for a time slow drivers were prosecuted. Slow traffic was urged to pull on to the soft shoulders. This became the first hazard. Cars were settling down into the soft ground and where the shoulder would support the traffic so large a cloud of dust was raised that following traffic could not see in order to pass.

Later the provincial department of highways has introduced a number of sections of three-lane traffic into the picture.

The three-lane highway is far from the ideal. In almost every instance of such a system being introduced there has been a series of accidents resulting from cars using passing lanes from both directions. Where there is no possible alternative, the three-lane system is acceptable. It is not suitable where it can be avoided.

The highway now faces a more difficult problem. In certain sections a three-way system has been introduced, but the two-lane highway prevails elsewhere. The result is even more hazardous. The driver is hard-pressed to ascertain instantly whether he is in one section or the other.

The purpose of this new modification is obscure. What is the future of the highway? It is about time the department of highways let the public into its confidence regarding its future plans for an inadequate road handling an excessive burden of traffic.

CULTURAL TREAT BUT

WHY THOSE BAWDY PIECES?

Black Mark Against Speaker

By ELSIE WORTHINGTON.
Perhaps this article may never go beyond the editor's desk. It may come to an untimely end in his waste paper basket, but I'm going to have fun writing it!

I feel like a very small David shooting at a very large Goliath with a microscopic pellet. The Great Man may never know that a small-time newspaper correspondent took a pot shot at him, but here goes!

BRILLIANT ADDRESS

Professor Tony Emery gave a humorous, highly entertaining, and truly brilliant address at the Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce installation banquet on Friday evening. Speaking with the charming ease of an accomplished orator, his words, seemingly without effort, came in a steady flow of clever and exquisitely beautiful phrases that delighted his listeners.

Prof. Emery's address was indeed a rare cultural treat for Salt Spring Islanders. His timely choice of subject, "The Power of Words," was highlighted by beautiful quotations from classical writers. But why the bawdy pieces? (The choice of word was the speaker's, not mine.) It was like a black mark drawn across a beautiful picture. And there were ladies and gentlemen in his captive audience.

INDECENT TO US

We know that some passages in time-honored literature are considered indecent by our present moral standards. That does not alter their beauty, but it does make them unsuitable for public utterance.

Food, drink, and sex are vital parts of life and jests are made about all three. Jokes about the first two must be very funny indeed or they will fall flat on their faces. Stories about sex can be counted upon for a laugh at any time, regardless of humor content. Some people laugh—albeit uncomfortably—to avoid being tagged "prudish." (I'm in that class.) No doubt others laugh, not at the story, but at the attack, direct or subtle, on our existing moral code.

USE RISQUE

One suspects that less able speakers may make use of the risque hoping to add lustre to their efforts. Prof. Emery's words require no such literary crutch. His scintillating wit can stand on its own merit.

Perhaps for some speakers the off-color bit may serve to cover a nagging lack of self-confidence, but for Prof. Emery—perish the thought!

Could it be that he thinks we Islanders are so culturally deficient that a few pornographic gems are necessary to make the more refined content of such a brilliant address palatable? Again—perish the thought!

Perhaps some more enlightened mind than mine has the answer. As I predicted, I've had fun firing this left-handed salvo. I hope my editor enjoys reading it, even though he may consign it to the waste basket. If that happens I don't suppose Prof. Emery will ever know I aimed my little sling shot in his direction. Too bad!

At the time of Christ's advent, the common denominator in all the world's religions was the rite of blood sacrifice. This sacrifice ranged from the God required sacrifices of lambs, cattle, etc., of Judaism to the horrible practices of human sacrifice in the worship of some of the religious cults of the time.

As the time has passed and nations have become "civilized" these practices of blood sacrifice died away except in the more primitive parts of the world. Instead, the cultured devotee will offer grain and bits of food to placate his gods.

The fact remains that God has said that "without the shedding of blood there is no remission" of sins. Though man may have changed, God's word has not—but God has provided a sacrifice in the person of His Son, Jesus Christ. It is His blood which God promises will cover our sins.

In the Christian Church too, there has been a tendency on the part of the more "cultured" to shun the shedding of the blood but it is still true that only by accepting Christ's death on the cross as atonement for our sins may we attain a right relationship with God. When God has made such a sacrifice for us can we do less than receive it with thanksgiving?

Sum Of $150 Given To U.C.W. From Tea Proceeds

Monthly meeting of the Bazon Bay Unit of the United Church Women was held on April 18 at the home of Mrs. Axel Ostrom, Patricia Bay Highway.

Another chapter from the study book "Signals for the Sixties" was prepared and read by Mrs. J. Kennard.

A successful tea and bazaar was held March 17, with a sum of $150 turned over to the U.C.W.'s general fund.

An Electric kettle was purchased for St. Paul's church kitchen.

The Bazon Bay group was asked to have a sewing stall included in the Mother's Day tea and bazaar on May 12 sponsored by the Beacon unit.

The group plans to sponsor the Melstersingers of Victoria in the early fall.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. R. Hall, East Saanich Road, on May 30.

THE GREATEST WORK OF ALL!

Bach And His Ultimate Melody In The Mighty St. Matthew Passion

By MADELEINE TILL.

The other night I sat for about three hours in the dark, only it wasn't completely dark as there was a bright moon. Sometimes I closed my eyes in bliss, and if I opened them I could see the outlines of the trees and shrubs bathed in a misty light, the lawn streaked with long shadows. The moon travelled across the sky until it shone through the little window behind my chair, it touched the laurel leaves with silver and made the tall first stand out in silhouette. I was listening to Bach.

I feel very sorry for those who don't appreciate Bach, because they are missing so much and so much. He is accused of being unemotional and cold, dull, mathematical and heavy. Somebody once told me his music reminded him of a typewriter going clickety-clack. They say he can't write a decent melody. The only thing I can say is that they should listen to the St. Matthew Passion. It has everything.

GREATEST SETTING

I am not alone in thinking that this work is the greatest musical setting of the events leading up to the Crucifixion. It is planned on a grand scale, calling for a double choir, double orchestra, four vocal soloists, harpsichord and organs. At its first performance in 1729 in Leipzig, all poor old Bach could muster for this colossal work were 16 singers, 18 orchestral players and two organs, one of which was an old discarded instrument. A hundred years went by before its second performance under Mendelssohn, who was responsible for reviving interest in Bach's music, much of which was scattered at his death and lost for ever.

Sometimes the double choir acts like a chorus in a Greek tragedy. It is used for comments of a devotional nature as in the chorales or hymns, or to voice the frenzy of the mobs yelling "Crucify Him" and the ferocious roar, "Barabbas!". It accompanies solo voices, thunders forth to the full accompaniment of orchestras and organs, and brings the work to a close with a tragic chorus of farewell.

DEMANDING

By far the most demanding part of all is that of the Evangelist, scored for tenor, who, as narrator, knits the work together. The solos for soprano, alto, tenor and bass provide breathing spaces between the dramatic events. In these arias Bach is at his greatest in creating melodies which are the essence of emotion expressed in sound. There is an aria, "Thy Mercy show, O God," which comes after Peter's denial, that is, to my mind, supremely beautiful. If I were condemned to a desert island and allowed to bring just one piece of music, I would choose that one.

My introduction to the St. Matthew Passion came at the Royal Academy of Music, when we performed it in its entirety at the Queen's Hall under the baton of Sir Henry Wood. We trained for months with Sir Henry's guidance, an unforgettable experience. He was genial and patient and very thorough. At times he made me think of Svengali, with his unruly mop of hair and bearded face, eyes screwed up and glittering with hypnotic fire, his voice snarling directions, as his hands clenched and unclenched before him in the attempt to draw out every ounce of expression.

LOST COUNT

I have lost count of the number of times I have heard the work, and with each hearing I realize more and more what a glorious thing it is. I must have listened to it three or four times at Westminster Abbey, twice in Bach's St. Thomas Church in Leipzig, and every year I tune in to the C.B.C. to hear the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto conducted by Sir Ernest Macmillan. The performance I heard the other night was deeply moving. The choir, the soloists and the orchestra were beyond praise.

So—next year, if you are not already an addict, do as I do. Turn out the lights, relax in a comfortable chair and tune in to the C.B.C. on the Wednesday night before Easter. You won't be disappointed.

Foolproof Engine Needed For Stop And Start Driving

By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBBS

Every month I get my little Automobile Club bulletin, and always there is a useful and valuable article for the motorist. This month I found myself in the category of the woman who uses her car for shopping and, at that, for driving short distances.

Apparently, so many things can go wrong with the engine which is not driven smoothly and fast over miles of our highways.

If that is so, it's high time the inventors came up with a small foolproof engine, which positively thrives on starting and stopping, and can be used to advantage by the woman suburban shopper.

It seems too bad that after getting your car out of the garage up to the stores to buy a loaf of bread, you should feel it imperative to go for a speedy run for a few miles to clear the engine of all the contaminations a short run produces. A waste of time!

In the same mail, I had an amusing letter from a Nigerian boy, Akinwunmi Simeon, who was talking about wearing spectacles and driving a car.

He tells me that his schoolmaster used to wear two pairs of spectacles on the top of the other. On Saturdays, he used to drive his dilapidated old car the 27 miles into Lagos and on that occasion he always took one of the boys with him.

The boy's job was to keep his eye on the road and as soon as he spotted a bridge, a market, or a pedestrian to yell out "Bridge, Sir!" The bridge might be still two or three miles away. The master would jam on the brakes and begin a three mile crawl. You can imagine what fun those boys got yelling out "Pedestrian, Sir!" crossings. There would be a screeching of brakes, a grinding of gears and a whining of tires.

First Workshop Is Success At Royal Oak Institute Hall

About 125 members of the South Vancouver Island Women's Institute came from Sooke, Cedar, the Penders and Salt Spring Island, Victoria and Brentwood to the recent regional meeting at Royal Oak.

A workshop was the first of a series to be staged by the district board, at various districts on Vancouver Island.

The man drove by instinct and never grasped that the boys were fooling him. But what a driver. Akinwunmi Simeon had occasion to get his eyes tested, and appeared in his office with new spectacles. He tells me that one of his fellow workers took one look and said, "Take those dreadful things off. You look morbid!"

Which all goes to show that our neighbor Nigerians enjoy life and have a great sense of humor.

cover Island. Hot coffee welcomed the visitors at 10 o'clock in the morning, and greeting the guests were the president of the board, Mrs. A. Ingram and Mrs. E. G. Woodward, editor of the flourishing W.I. Newsletter.

After the official welcome by the president, and the singing of the W.I. Ode, Mrs. Woodward led in a routine whereby visitors met each other.

There were some talks by various officials, with questions and answers from the audience and speakers.

Mrs. E. Robinson spoke of the duties of conveners. Mrs. H. Lauritzen gave a report on the federated conferences and Mrs. Woodward led a lively discussion on the new constitution and by-laws. Mrs. L. Johns spoke on parliamentary procedure and showed a movie.

CRITIC LET'S HIMSELF GO

Political Satire In Parable

Herewith is a copy of letter which, it is alleged was sent to someone East of Suez.

In the name of the All Merciful, the All Compassionate, Greetings.

As I have already informed you, I arrived in the province of British Columbia while a provincial election was being held. Not knowing anything about local politics, I enquired as to what it was all about. It appears three political parties were each trying to get control of the government by voting. Strange as it may seem, everything was peaceful—not a soldier or gun in sight. The three groups were the Liberal, the Conservative and the C.C.F. (an alleged dyed in the wool socialist party). I learned that in power was a coalition, made up of the Conservatives and Liberals. This merger had a premonition that it might meet defeat at the coming election if the election law was not changed and that the socialists might come into power.

DIVIDED
From my friends, I learned that the province was divided into districts and each district sent one man to represent it. It meant that the actual number of votes obtained by the winner often had no bearing on the result—only the number of places in the government won by that party.

There were only a limited number of representatives allocated to the heavily populated districts so that the scantily settled districts by reason of distribution of seats in the legislative assembly could easily defeat the wishes of the majority. That, I was informed, was "democracy".

But alas for human judgment! Some renegades from the Coalition, who were unable to get anywhere in the party, formed a new one, called Social Credit. To this day, I have been unable to discover the ultimate aims of this group but a friend of mine had what he considered the solution. It was that this party by means of literature and wordy speeches had laid a complete screen to cover greed for complete power, subterfuge, misleading statements re-finances, etc. I do not know whether this be true or not as I am not versed in local politics.

LOST THEIR HEADS

One thing I can say is that those renegades were more fortunate than were some from our own tribe, who went to Rabat, and coming back, tried to start a revolution. Ours lost their heads with the help of a big negro slave, who, our Sheikh kept for such occasions.

Now, this new election law enabled the voters to choose the men of their choice as No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, and so on. That was, I think, a good measure and the rebels won the election, although the socialists came a close second. The results pleased the new party but in order to ensure winning of the next election, the method of voting was altered to the old one. Changing laws to suit the men in power is no new experience at home but I was under the impression that this was a democracy. It is, perhaps, well that Allah has not given wisdom to all men for otherwise the rich and powerful could not hold their positions.

IMPRESSIVE
The ability to criticize their rulers and freedom of speech were two things that impressed my uncle when in the western world, for not only had he travelled all over the west but was himself Hadji, having made the pilgrimage. At times in our land it is not healthy to criticize the rulers. If the critic is lucky, he comes out of trouble with two very sore feet, the bastinado treatment having been applied.

To return to elections, from what I see and hear, there is in B.C. an elected dictatorship. Apparently, a political group gains complete control of the province, in some cases by promises of reform, etc., and is able to ride roughshod over all opposition and pass legislation into effect that flouts public opinions and requirements and at times condones wholesale dishonesty.

Now I do not blame altogether the men in office for what they do, being human and, therefore, filled with greed and drunk with power, but I do put most of the onus on two groups of citizens, who make this state of affairs possible.

First, there is the membership of the party in power. I mean those, while elected to sit in the provincial parliament, do not hold any place in the cabinet. Those men have promised to assist in governing the province for the common good. That is the theory. In practice, party policies supersede everything. They are called back-benchers but I have been told "back-polishers" is a better title. No matter how futile or grandiose the government scheme may be, the whip is cracked and the supine ones vote "Yes" or "No" just as they are ordered. This creates a situation that lends itself to granting favors to political and personal friends, to assisting party supporters out of financial troubles and plain dishonesty.

As I have already said, those elected are mere run-of-the-mill humans, not over-bright or over-stupid, and subject to all the frailties that beset mankind.

The other culprit is the average voter. He is naive in the extreme and can be easily led by any moron, possessed of a smooth convincing talk like our sheep following a shepherd.

That same individual entrances me and the question arises, "How can anyone in their senses place in high office a man, possessed of small intellect, a loud voice and unholy amount of cheap arrogance?" Promises, which in so many cases are just promises, are made and the electorate bribed with their own money. I have been told a story, which I cannot quite believe, that one political party printed thousands of booklets, containing propoganda and paid for by the taxpayer.

As you know, a governing body must practise economy, whether it be a small Arab Sheikdom or a wealthy part of the great Dominion of Canada. The present government of British Columbia is economical in the same way the over-stout lady dieted. This woman went into a restaurant and after consuming a huge meal of pork-chops, sweet potatoes and several fattening desserts, opened her purse, took out a small bottle and put a small tablet into her cup of coffee. Her companion enquired as to wherefore and was told by the stout one that was saccharine and she was on a diet.

That tablet represents the help given to the unfortunate by their government. Those unfortunate are people by reason of old age, sickness or bad luck were unable to accumulate enough of the world's goods to make them independent.

I am afraid I am rather disappointed with the politics in this land and I am also afraid I cannot support this pseudo democracy. — H. McLeod.

CONVERSATION PIECE*"Ice Breaker Club" Welcomes Newcomers To Victoria Area

By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBBS

Mrs. Avis Walton was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of Royal Oak Women's Institute on April 11. Mrs. Walton, in an interesting and informative speech, told of her work with newcomers to the city and Greater Victoria.

The theme of her talk was "Good Neighbor Policy", and she urged members to go out of their way to make newcomers at home.

In this lovely city, there are newcomers who are very lonely, and perhaps because of their backgrounds in other provinces, or in the Orient, find it difficult to settle down.

When Mrs. Walton calls with gifts from business firms, she also extends an invitation to join the "Ice Breaker Club". This is a purely social club, with at present a floating membership of 150. Many more visitors attend the meetings, which are held by invitation in the larger hotels and clubs. The club provides a program and refreshments. There is a small subscription. Members are introduced to others with like interests and hobbies.

SUMMER EXCURSIONS

In summer, excursions are planned by the committee to points of interest, "Picnics and visits to parks make an informal get-together."

Mrs. Walton said she was struck with the calibre of the newcomers to Victoria. Many, with so much special knowledge of the world—of art, literature, music and international affairs. The latter coming chiefly from the Orient.

One of British Columbia's holiday centres, Salt Spring Island, draws a steady flow of tourists annually from every part of the continent. Vesuvius Bay, eastern terminal of the ferry link with Crofton, has changed but little since the first white man saw it. It is a popular bathing centre for tourists and island residents.

POTPOURRI*Fun, Fatigue And Victory For The Junior Orchestra

By ROSALIE HEYWOOD

By now the success at the annual Calgary music festival last week of the Greater Victoria Schools Symphony Orchestra (Victoria Junior Symphony), is well known.

The Calgary Junior Philharmonic met its first challenge in competition with the Victoria schools orchestra, conducted by Mrs. Dorothy Evans; the Victoria group winning with 90 points out of a possible 100 points for a "sincere and excellent performance" of Rimsky-Korsakoff's Capriccio Espagnol.

The Calgary orchestra, conducted by Frank Simpson earned an average of 86 points for a performance of Jean Sibelius' Finlandia and one other composition.

TWO DERAILMENTS

The trip was one of adventure and excitement which the young people took in their stride. The derailment of two freight trains ahead of them, one caused by a rock slide, the other by a split rail, delayed their arrival in Calgary so that one of the two music appreciation concerts planned had to be cancelled, as well as a tour and other entertainment arranged for them.

They boarded a bus at Victoria high school at 2 p.m. on Saturday, April 17, instruments and luggage crammed forcibly into every available space and each student carrying his or her uniform protected by a plastic bag. There were four chaperones.

There was plenty of time for a picnic supper in Stanley Park, Vancouver, before boarding the train for Calgary.

Because they were enjoying the company of one another, and were deeply engrossed in various games, students are vague as to times and locations; but sometime the following day their train came upon the first wreck.

DRIVEN 30 MILES

After waiting some time their train backed up a considerable distance and they were loaded into

Scouts, Cubs To Clean Beaches

Boy Scouts and Cubs will clean up the beaches around Saanich Peninsula for the second time next May 5. A similar "good deed" project last year resulted in a tremendous amount of rubbish being carried away from the local beaches, making them cleaner and safer for the summer swimming season.

The project will be carried out by Scouts and Cubs of the troops and packs of the Tsartlip District of the Douglas District of Victoria, on all public beaches on the Peninsula between 9 a.m. and 12 o'clock noon on Saturday May 5. A similar clean-up is being carried out by Boy Scouts and Cubs of the Greater Victoria area at the same time.

Municipal authorities have consented to assist with the disposal of the refuse collected by the boys.

In fact, she herself felt obliged to "re-charge herself" by taking short visits to a high altitude such as Calgary to regain pep!

The charm of Victoria and its surroundings lies in just this quality. A gentle, unpushing life well suited to a mature population, but not the place for the young energetic business man.

To end on a humorous note, the speaker said she felt that nowhere else could a solemn conclave of town councillors debate the question "How many cats should a household be allowed to keep?" A pertinent question, "When does a kitten become a cat?", stalled the debate!

IT'S A BIG INVESTMENT!*CAN'T AFFORD TO QUIT NOW

By FRANK RICHARDS

With brown-stained fingers and lungs of leather, I choke my way into another cigarette to assess the situation to date.

A recent summary of the rough resume of the past 30 years into sharp focus.

In 1934 I was first permitted to wheeze my way through my parents' home sporting a somewhat self-conscious cigarette. It was not the first time. Surprisingly, I had smoked in school, acquiring a brand which sold for approximately 10 cigarettes for three cents. An early cigar had put me into my sick bed for several days.

By 1935 I was putting well. From that year until 1939 I stayed with a packet a day. In France at the beginning of the war consumption rose to a peak of 100 per diem. Those were the days when sleep was comparatively rare and the cigarette kept me awake.

In 1940 I reverted to a more normal dose and continued this until the present day. Conservatively this represents four years, or 1,460 days at one packet per day; one year or 365 days at a maximum of five packets per day; and 22 years at a packet and a quarter per day.

Totalling out the equations shows a consumption in 28 years of 13,297 packets of cigarettes or 265,970 "fags". At today's prices this represents an outlay of $5,000.

LOSS OR GAIN?

It also works out at a loss of life on the suggested basis of 14 1/2 minutes per cigarette, of some seven years. Being denied the privilege of chairvoyance I am hard pressed to figure whether this is a gain or loss. The man who has to set this in type probably figures it as a material gain.

My head is bloody with nicotine, but unbiased, I have invested a lot of money in smoking. Even if I wanted to I couldn't afford to give it up now, after that investment. And despite the reports of danger, despite the innumerable holes I have burned in the carpets and the furniture, despite the members of the legislature who would have "poison" signs on cigarette packets, I still enjoy smoking.

school buses—instruments and all—driven 30 miles where they boarded another train on the Kettle Valley run. This eventually brought them, in a roundabout way, back to the main line and so to Calgary.

The weary travellers reached their destination at noon on Monday, April 9, and were sent directly to their billets with orders to rest. But excitement and anticipation kept many from relaxing.

There had been very little sleep, but in spite of fatigue, their love for their music, the hours of study and rehearsals together with the encouraging leadership of Mrs. Evans resulted in them achieving success at the festival Monday night.

Naturally they were overjoyed, not only for themselves, but because of the hard work and the generous financial contributions of those who made the trip possible. "Thank-you!"

The journey home was uneventful and they arrived in Victoria and their individual homes by 2 p.m. on Wednesday, April 11. A few had yet to appear in the local Victoria music festival but most of them went straight to bed and slept until it was time for school the next morning.

Bravo! boys and girls. Thank you for a job well done!

Have You Thought About Trading Your Refrigerator For An Up-to-Date Model?

If your refrigerator is an older model, it's perhaps not keeping up with your family's needs. Why not have your appliance dealer show you the new models that are available?

Today's new Refrigerators offer:

- Larger interior food storage capacity (without being larger in size).
- Greater in-the-door storage capacity
- Shelf space that is better planned and more flexible
- Automatic defrosting in many models

REFRIGERATOR-FREEZER COMBINATION IS POPULAR CHOICE

For families who do not need a full-size freezer, a refrigerator with zero size compartment is ideal. This provides the same advantages as a freezer—allows foods to be frozen quickly, and will keep frozen foods for long-term storage.

See your appliance dealer about trading your old refrigerator for a more efficient, more convenient up-to-date model.

Pencillings . . . from Pender

By VIRGINIA SHIRLEY

Last week's breakdown of the Motor Princess resulted in a complete upheaval of normal, routine, life in the Islands.

Many people were just plain mad. Others went into fits of laughter over the whole thing; and the rest were too busy catering for guests who came to spend a day and remained five days, to do more than fervently hope the new parts for the vessel would arrive on time and the familiar ferry again give regularly with the welcome port call.

One Vancouver couple who had planned to visit Pender for 15 years, decided to come, of all days, on Sunday, April 15, to look at property. They came, they saw, but, unlike Caesar, were conquered, and had to leave their car and return via water taxi in darkest night. We just don't know whether they will buy or not. Some city people scare off easily.

Then there was the lady who found herself hostess to two adults and a large dog for six days (expecting one guest for over-night), and with larger low, as she was due to go away for a visit herself.

Those Islanders who were stranded in town had a gay time keeping up with a blow by blow report of progress on the vital organs of the ferry, and the telephone company should, at long last, be able to show a profit on Gulf Islands receipts, what with all the long distance calls made as a result of no ferry service. But it's all over now, and a good clean-up of traffic was accomplished through night sailings. One thing, the Galiano and Pender Chambers of Commerce were spurred into sending wires to the Premier, urging an announcement concerning the new ferry, due next year, and lo! An announcement came. A smaller ferry than original plans, but if several trips are made per day, it should carry the load. Nothing about Swartz Bay in the announcement, but we know we won't be forgotten there, either. Things are beginning to look up. Now, if federal authorities just pour a little oil on the daily mail machinery (and we have recent promises of such oil), we won't hear quite so much commiseration for "those remote and isolated islands off B.C.'s coast." Harry Auchterlonie is receiving congratulations over successfully passing his navigation school examinations for first mate. One of these days he'll be waving to the family from the bridge of a gleaming passenger ship, as it passes Pender.

Both local churches, and South Pender's church, too, were filled

GALIANO

George Goodwin is happy to be home after spending the winter in North Vancouver, and recently in the Lions Gate Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Sater, with Ivor and Nola, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Walters, with Tommy, Keith, and Ronnie, went up to Campbell River for a short holiday to visit with their respective relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Page and two children, of Cobble Hill, came over briefly to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Page, and Miss Gina will spend the Easter holiday with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stewart, of Vancouver, also Sgs. S. Stewart, H.M.C.S. Naden, Esquimalt, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Twiss, of Victoria, came over to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Twiss.

Mr. J. Kingsmill has returned from a visit to Powell River. Miss Cora Nashe, of Montreal, Quebec, is enjoying a visit with Miss E. Clarkson and Miss J. Wycoff.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Drew, of West Vancouver, are over for the long on Sunday, and all were beautifully decorated with flowers for Easter services. That is one boon of our gracious climate—masses of spring flowers everywhere to illustrate in beauty the wonder of rebirth at Easter time.

The Guild's spring tea is being held in the Port Washington Hall, Tuesday, May 1, at half past two. It's always nice.

Lois Lee And Peter Nadin Exchange Vows In St. Mary's

In a setting of spring flowers and wild lilies, a wedding was solemnized in St. Mary's Church between Lois Gwendoline Lee, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee, Salt Spring Island, and Peter Albert Nadin, of Canim Lake, B.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nadin, Cariboo, on Saturday, April 14.

Archdeacon G. H. Holmes performed the wedding ceremony, and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Wedding music was played by Miss Susan Fellows of Ganges. The bride looked very pretty in a full-length white lace over satin gown, with lily-point sleeves. She wore a Chapel veil and carried a bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Barry Crooks, of Saturna Island, wore pink nylon chiffon over taffeta, with a special embroidered front panel, ballerina-length, and she carried pink carnations.

The bride's two sisters, Ronda and Elizabeth Lee, were bridesmaids, and they wore yellow nylon chiffon over taffeta, and blue nylon sheer, respectively, and carried matching bouquets of carnations. A tiny cousin, Anna Mollet, in pink sheer nylon, was the flower girl and carried a dainty basket of spring flowers.

Best man was Robin Nadin, brother of the groom, and ushers were Pat Lee and Wayne Bradley.

The church was filled to overflowing as relations and friends came from far and near. One of the old time families on Salt Spring, the Lees have many friends and relations, and despite the April showers which fell during the wedding, it was a happy ceremony.

Flower arrangements in the church were the work of Mrs. A. Davis and Mrs. G. Maude.

"O Perfect Love" was sung during the signing of the register. The reception was held in the Fulford Hall immediately after the wedding, and some 200 people gathered to wish the young couple happiness.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Captain Leslie Mollet, and replied to by the bridegroom. Many lovely gifts were on display in the hall and tea was served during the afternoon. The three-tiered wedding cake was made and decorated by Mrs. R. Lee.

For her going away outfit, Mrs. Nadin, Jr. wore a beige ensemble with white accessories. The couple left in the early afternoon to catch the Tsawwassen ferry and spend their honeymoon in the Interior. Mr. and Mrs. Nadin will make their home in Ganges on their return.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. K. Lowndes, and Miss Sally Lowndes of Victoria, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. H. Wakelin and Mrs. Wakelin Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. F. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. K. Tahomy and Hudson Lee, all of Victoria, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs.

SOCIAL CLOAK

A gabardine is a long, loose, coarse cloak, with or without sleeves and a hood. It was an outdoor garment worn by peasants and workmen in the Middle Ages. The laws of that time forbade the Jew to wear the cloak of a gentleman, hence the gabardine carried with it the idea of social inferiority.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bridge have their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Underhill, and three children, with them from Vancouver, over Easter week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cullerne are here at their cottage from Vancouver for Easter week.

Mrs. Evelyn Hillier, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Robert Horne and two children, all of Vancouver, are in residence at their Port Washington cottage for the holidays.

J. Martinich, and son Terry, are holidaying with relatives in Vancouver.

Miss Meta Hall is here from Vancouver at her Hoosen Road cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, senior and junior, with the children, of Victoria, are here at their Clam Bay cottages.

Mrs. Louise Hollis and Mrs. Alice Metherall spent the holidays in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. John Darling were week-end guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bellemare, and family, in Victoria. Miss Lynne Ediger, of Vancouver, is the guest of Joan Wilson, Armadale, for Easter week.

Bob Hamilton and his sister, Mrs. Wm. Mendes, with the boys, are here from Victoria at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Bannister, and two children, have returned to Victoria, after an Easter holiday with Mrs. Bannister's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Grimmer.

On Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grimmer entertained 40 guests, of the younger set, at their valley farm home, and a good time was reported by all.

On Easter Sunday it was family Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Grimmer. This year all were present—son Donald, and Mrs. Donald and the five children; daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Hugh England, and three children; and daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Harry Auchterlonie, and four children.

BRUSH THOSE TEETH!

Sugar Is Their Enemy

Dr. D. C. Bullen, of the division of preventive dentistry, department of health, was guest speaker at Salt Spring Island P.T.A. meeting last week.

With the use of slides Dr. Bullen demonstrated the need of carefully guarding the teeth of young children from decay. Using a graph Dr. Bullen showed the effects of sugar restriction on the teeth of young Japanese children.

In pre-war years 90 per cent of children starting school in Japan had decayed teeth. After years of sugar restriction during the war only 30 per cent of grade one children had any dental decay. Today the percentage is almost equal to the pre-war rate. Dr. Bullen said decay can be prevented by immediate brushing of teeth following sugar intake.

Dr. Bullen stressed the need of preventive care by brushing and regular inspection of children's teeth, especially in pre-school and early school years. There is an acute shortage of dentists he said, and the situation will grow worse before it improves.

GANGES

Easter was a happy time in many Salt Spring homes when families and friends came over for the festive season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Whist, Kamloops, and Miss Marilynne Brown, R.C.A.F. Station, Holberg, B.C., were with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brown, Rainbow Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Corbett, and family, West Vancouver, spent the holiday week-end at their summer home at Southey Point.

Miss M. Holiday, Vancouver, stopped off on her way to the World's Fair in Seattle to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Storey, Rainbow Road.

Miss E. Worthington, Victoria, is a guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. Worthington, Ganges Hill, for several days.

Mrs. R. T. Meyer and Miss D. Mickleborough, Vesuvius Bay, entertained their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McCann and sons Lindsey and Karl, from Vancouver.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Tretheway, Sunset Drive, were Mrs. Tretheway's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mickleborough, Toronto, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. McLaren, also of Toronto. Mrs. McLaren is national Commandant of Canadian Red Cross Corps and has been visiting cities across the country in that capacity.

Mrs. C. Devine, Lower Ganges Road, enjoyed a visit from her sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Storbach, Campbell River, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Giegerich, Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Giegerich also paid a visit to the former's father, H. C. Giegerich, Beddis Road.

Terry Newman, Vancouver, spent Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Newman, Sharpe Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton McNeil, 100 Mile House, B.C., were guests of Mrs. McNeil's mother, Mrs. W. Norton, Lower Ganges Road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sloane and family, Vancouver, were holiday guests of Mrs. Sloane's father, H. C. Giegerich, Beddis Road.

Four young people were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Aeland, assistance to parents in caring for the dental health of pre-school and grade one children, by providing education in preventive care, said Dr. Bullen. Half the cost of this program is borne by the government he added.

In thanking the speaker, Mrs. A. McManus, P.T.A. president, said there had been some misunderstanding about the dental program in the past, resulting in complaints. Parents wishing to complain should do so in writing to the dental committee, for discussion, said Mrs. McManus.

PARTING GIFT FOR PARTING W.A. MEMBER

Mrs. D. Lowther, who is leaving Salt Spring Island shortly, was presented with a parting gift by members of Vesuvius Bay W.A. Circle, at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. P. G. James, Langley Avenue.

Mrs. Lowther is a charter member of the Circle. Minutes of the first meeting, held in 1946, were read as a tribute to Mrs. Lowther's long service with the group.

A letter of thanks was read from the parish treasurer, for donations made by the circle to the Primate's World Relief fund and Anglican Theological College.

Archdeacon and Mrs. G. H. Holmes conducted the opening and closing devotions. Following the meeting tea was served by the hostess.

MRS. G. LUTZ IS CALLED BY DEATH IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Gladys Lutz, wife of Arnold Lutz, Upper Ganges Road, Ganges, passed away April 23 at Lady Minto Hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Lutz served as driver with R.C.A.F. women's division during the Second World War.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Sidelights On Saturna . .

This week we have seen quite a number of visitors to Saturna. The weather hasn't been as nice as it was last week, but we were pleased to have so many of them with us at the Easter service on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Sacker and family, and Miss Shirley Embra were staying at their cottage on Bonnie Bank Road.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Jamieson and family, of South Burnaby, were here to spend Easter at their house on Tumbo Channel Road.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Crosbie have been spending the holiday at their cottage on Tumbo Channel Road. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell had Mrs. D. Green, cousin to James Campbell, and her two sons, Jamie and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. J. Davies, Maralyn, Steven and John to visit with them.

Other visitors to their island cottages were Mr. and Mrs. H. Menzies and their two children, in Lyall Harbour; Mrs. Connie Woods and her mother, in Boot Cove; Mr. and Mrs. A. Ritchie had friends over from Everett for the day; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Woods and family were here from Brentwood; Mr. and Mrs. G. Gordon have had their two grand-children, Nola and Geordie, with them for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Money, and W. Money, leave the island on Tuesday to attend the graduation of their daughter Betty, as a psychiatric nurse. Betty is to be married here on Saturna, on May 5 to R. Peterson, of Whalley, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Dixon and daughter Jane have been spending the Easter holiday with Dr. and Mrs. J. Carney, and son James, who is a twin to Mrs. Dixon (nee Pat Carney).

Saturna is looking lovely in her spring gown. The dark greens of the first interspersed with the light greens of the maples and arbutus, the golden bloom of the broom and the flowers of spring in the gardens, the flocks of swallows and hummingbirds that are constantly around my wallflowers and pansies are such a treat after the rather cold and dreary winter we have had.

It's so beautiful to awaken to the sound of the birds mating again and the smell of the damp earth when one goes out to greet the morn is a delight to most of us.

SUNSHINE GROUP OFFERS 'ROUND THE WORLD' TOUR

A "round the world" tour is being offered by the Sunshine Circle of St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, on May 1, at 8 p.m. in the new church hall. Proceeds will be in aid of the building fund, and an enjoyable program has been arranged by the group.

A parade of costumes from many of the countries of the world will be featured, with dances of many of the countries presented by local dancers. A highlight of the program will be the Indian dance group from Victoria which includes about 30 members of various local tribes who will present authentic B.C. Indian dances.

Beside the parade and the dance numbers in the show, vocal and musical selections will be presented by some of Sidney's own talented artists. Included among the entertainers will be Cathie and Linda Douma, Jim Helps, Margaret Storey, Rosalind Cantwell, Dinie Grootveld and Nellie Van Schagen, Cliff Ganderton, Joan Gardner, Linda Mills, Barbara Erickson and Eileen Pettigrew.

Party Leader To Visit Here

HON. L. B. PEARSON

First party leader to visit this district in the current federal election campaign will be Hon. L. B. Pearson, Liberal stalwart. He will arrive at Patricia Bay Airport at 7:00 p.m. on May 1 and attend a reception in his honor at Central Junior high school that evening. The public has been invited to attend and meet him.

SOUTH PENDER

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Buchanan, of Vancouver, spent the Easter week-end at their cottage here.

Miss Ruth Irving came out from Victoria to holiday with her grandmother, Mrs. John Freeman, Easter week.

Miss Sybil Conery and Miss Jennifer Axton, both of Vancouver, holidayed over the long week-end at Little Splash.

Johnny Spalding, of Vancouver, spent the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Spalding.

Mr. and Mrs. Verny Allyn, and two small nephews, all of Vancouver, are at their South Pender cottage.

Miss M. Bailey and Miss E. Ladner have returned to Vancouver, after vacationing at their cabin.

Miss Hilda McGillivray and Mrs. Marty Barber, both of Vancouver, are Easter week guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gill. Herbert Spalding has returned home from a trip up the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Renaude, of Vancouver, spent a few days at their cottage last week.

Rev. B. A. J. Cowan held a short service, then the tea planned at the Farmhouse Inn was held.

FLOWER SHOW AT GANGES MAY 1

The 11th annual Salt Spring Island Spring Flower Show will be held May 1 from 2 to 5 p.m. in Mahon Hall, Ganges.

A committee headed by Lieut. Col. J. H. Carvoso is in charge of the project.

Exhibits in horticultural and floral arrangement classes will be judged by Frank Lyon and Mrs. B. Clark, Shawnigan Lake.

St. Mark's Guild will serve afternoon tea under convenship of Mrs. G. S. Humphreys.

CRIBBAGE TOURNAMENT

A large crowd of members and guests went to the Galiano Golf and Country Club on Saturday night, to enjoy a good-natured cribbage tournament, the winners of which were Capt. I. G. Denroche and Mrs. B. Stallybrass, who walked off with firsts, and Mrs. H. D. Barner and Tom Carolan, the consolations.

A very enjoyable evening was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. I. P. Denroche and Mrs. Barner.

May Fair

Salt Spring Island P.T.A. annual May Fair will be held on Friday, May 4, at 2 p.m. in Mahon Hall, Ganges. Many features will be offered, including a clown, fish pond, and hot-dog stand. There will also be stalls offering delicatessen, home baking, plants, candy and aprons.

Display Garments Donated To Church

Mrs. H. Ashby displayed knitted garments donated to the Dorcas department, at the regular meeting of Anglican Women's Auxiliary held recently in the parish hall.

Mrs. G. H. Holmes, president, conducted the opening devotional period.

Mrs. Geo. Laundry gave a report on embroidery work by Pakistani women and sold by diocesan W.A. branches across Canada.

Mrs. Holmes reported on the Caroline Macklem Guest Home operated by the W.A. in Victoria. Small jars of jam will be donated as individual gifts for the ladies, by members of the branch during the summer.

After the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Laundry.

Remember—Clocks AHEAD one hour Saturday night.

The Turning Point:

"What is Important?"

by:

J. F. T. Saywell,

LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR NANAIMO RIDING.

On June 18 Canadians will make a choice that will affect not only our lives but the lives of our children and perhaps the future of the world. It will be one of the most important national elections in Canadian history.

Because I feel that it is vital that you fully understand the issues I propose to use this space to present the Liberal point of view. If you disagree with anything I say please write or call me.

If you agree, then give me your support. In any case, let's talk things over.

My number is 39 now and after May 6, 7493090.

I will be in Ganges May 4 at a meeting at 7 p.m.

You can contact me through Mr. W. Mouat, Ganges Post Office.

Perhaps you think I exaggerate the importance of the election. I don't think so. I feel that the election of our Liberal leader, Mike Pearson, as Prime Minister, can do more for world peace than any single action we Canadians can take.

I feel that with Mike Pearson as Prime Minister of Canada, the whole world will breathe a little easier and we can get on with the business of building a better Canada. Without a lasting peace, nothing else matters.

Highways without traffic

Far fetched? Not really. Without the protection of insurance, today's crowded highways would be virtually empty — if, indeed, they had been built in the first place.

Without automobile insurance, for instance, how many of today's 6,000,000 Canadian drivers would risk the liability claims which a single accident might bring? Without other types of insurance, who would dare gamble many millions of dollars to build cars in the first place? If the cars were built, how many dealers could dare risk having possibly hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of vehicles in his care without insurance protection?

Last year, automobile insurance companies in Canada paid out more than a half million dollars a day in claims — $190,000,000 in the year. Without insurance, the motoring public would be faced with the impossible financial risk of out-of-pocket payments of this mammoth accident bill. In many ways, insurance makes our present way of life possible.

Program To Help New Hall

Building fund for a Prospect Lake community hall will benefit from the returns from bingo to be staged in the district on Saturday evening, April 14.

The program will take place in Basil Oldfield's Machine Shop, on the corner of Sparton and West Saanich Roads, commencing at 7:30 p.m.

The Prospect Lake and District Community Association recently announced the acquisition of land for a community hall. The association, and the community, are now launching a drive for funds to erect a hall.

Hall used by Scouts and Guides in the area was last year condemned by its owners, Saanich municipality and the district was deprived of its use.

SANCTUARY FOR THE INTELLECTUAL

Geneva, Switzerland, is a member of the Swiss confederation. However, it was for centuries a small republic, independent of the great powers of Europe. For this reason it was the refuge of intellectual people who were persecuted by the despotic governments of Germany, France, Italy, and Russia. Various revolutionary ideas have emanated from the city. Calvin, the founder of Presbyterianism, resided there; Rousseau was born there, and Necker, minister of France, was a native of Geneva.

Scenic Beauty of British Columbia

Not far from Saanich lies Salt Spring Island, largest of the Gulf Islands and long known as a tourist centre to visitors from all parts of the world. Unspoiled by modern development, Salt Spring Island is a quiet section of the province where the natural attractions of British Columbia abound. Here is the commercial centre of the island community at Ganges.

OUT OF THE MIXING BOWL

Seattle World Fair

By MURIEL WILSON

Would you like to travel, 800 feet in a minute, in an elevator on the outside of a 600-foot tower . . . and dine in a revolving restaurant at the top?

Would you like to travel a mile in 90 seconds in a streamlined train on a single concrete track high above a busy city street?

Would you like to soar in a unique "Bubbleator" to the threshold of the stars? Would you like to spin heavenward in a huge space wheel, guide your own rocket . . . taxi to the future? Of course you know by now that I'm talking about Century 21, Seattle's World Fair.

Last week 40 women of the Canadian Women's Press Club were guests of the department of public relations of the fair. It was a day to remember . . . it's not everyday one gets a chance to take a giant step into tomorrow. I'm sure you know that the theme for this fabulous World Fair is the Space Age.

A WINGED LOOK
The buildings, as yet unfinished, all seem to have a winged look. . . Walls and roofs are flared up and out as if they were about to take off for outer space. The 80 circular information and vending booths have the appearance of umbrellas blown inside out with all their spokes pointing toward the sky.

Some of the most impressive buildings are the United States Science Pavilion, with its five arching towers representing man's constant striving for knowledge of the universe; the vast federal building of pure white stress cement; the Canada building with its huge bronze figures and the national coat of arms emblazoned on the entrance; the house of fashion is another vast spectacular . . . here Revlon's Fountain of Perfume will use 4,600 gallons of perfume.

IBM's thinking machines are housed

First Sod

First sod for the Pacific National Exhibition's new million-dollar livestock arena was turned on Tuesday of last week by John Taylor, M.P., B.C. Agriculture Minister, F. Richter, Vancouver Mayor Tom Alsbury, and P.N.E. President, Thomas R. Pye. The three governments have contributed $280,000 each to the structure. The balance is being paid by the P.N.E. The building will not be completed in time for this year's fair.

ed under a shimmering copper roof while the General Electric Company houses its concepts of electrical and electronic living in a futuristic, 10,000 square foot Hall of Wonders.

Described as a "Jewel Box" Fair, it has received enthusiastic approval for its architecturally exciting buildings, its imaginative land scaping ($30,000 worth), its courts and its malls dotted with pools and fountains.

None of the exhibits are as yet in place, in fact many of the buildings are still far from finished. The day we were shown around we dodged workmen, tractors and trucks and scurried out from under the jaws of earth moving equipment lest we be scooped up along with the rocks and rubble. Our guides were a group of university graduates and darn nice, very well informed, young men they were. They assured us that everything will be finished and ready for the "take off", come April 21.

A panorama of exhibits will range from a trip a billion light years into outer space, to a view of a minute object magnified a million times by the world's most powerful microscope.

FORTY NATIONS
Forty nations will have on display the best of their technical predictions, in pavilions ringing the landscaped malls. On boulevards lined with colorful shops, bazaars and restaurants their craftsmen will sell native food and goods. The Fine Arts Exhibits comprise some "never before" and "never again" art objects. Exquisite and priceless art treasure, museum masterpieces have been selected by top international museum directors.

General director of the fine arts exhibition is Norman Davis, a dollar-a-year Seattle businessman and collector. He has travelled the world over in search of art gems. He made six trips to Europe alone. The building which will house these treasures is one of the most impressive of the fair . . . an open floor rising 40 feet to a vaulted ceiling and 40,000 square feet of clear space divided and sub-divided by fireproof partitions into suitable galleries.

Most of the rides and attractions of the Midway or I should say Gayway for that's what the fair people have named it, are already in place. Here tomorrow's world is evidenced in space age excitements . . . although the spirit is ageless the rides are new . . . a Space Whirl, a Trip to Mars, a Helicopter Ride, a Space Wheel where the cars will climb to 95 feet above the ground and a dozen more custom built fun devices. If someone is launched off into orbit from the fantastic new roller coaster it will not surprise me a bit. Of course there will be all the traditional trappings of a fair . . . the cotton candy, pink lemonade, hamburgers and hot dogs (only they will have the new glamorized name "Weeny Wagons"). With a few moppets in tow you could have a ball.

ENTERTAINMENT

Entertainment should suit every taste and purse . . . music from jazz to opera, drama, comedy and ballet. World famous entertainers have been signed up. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police will stage their famous musical ride. Ringling Bros. Circus will be there and Billy Graham. And sports galore. Fifteen million dollars worth of entertainment is lined up.

What would a fair be without food? . . . you can have "pie in the sky" (atop the Space Needle) or anything from soup to nuts at the drop of a coin (at the Automat). You will be able to eat in the language of your choice . . . at The Hofbrau, a European Garden restaurant; the Food Circus will offer everything from pizza to American apple pie. Scandinavian wurst will be sold from carts. You can sip a tall Hawaiian cocktail under a real palm tree or an aperitif at a French sidewalk cafe. The day I was at the fair we lunched at the Automat which is a new experience in eating for the most of us.

VAST KITCHEN

In a 10,000-square-foot kitchen, food is prepared and packaged daily for the 400 vending machines conveniently situated throughout the fair grounds. A large restaurant, The Century Inn, close to the Monorail terminal, several Centurymats as well as a number of smaller

Provincial Botanist To Officiate At Flower Show

A man who escaped once from the Russians and twice from the Germans during the Second World War will officiate at the opening of the North Saanich Garden Club Spring Flower Show in Sanscha Hall, Saturday, April 28 at 2:30 p.m.

Dr. Adam F. Szczawinski landed in England during the war. His capabilities were recognized and he rose from the lowest rank in the R.A.F. to that of Wing Commander in a period of eight months.

Dr. Szczawinski was born in Poland, where he received his master's degree in botany. After serving with the Polish Air Force in France and the United Kingdom and with the R.A.F. from 1945 to 1948, he married a Scottish girl and came to Canada.

In 1949 he resumed his studies in botany at the University of British Columbia and in 1953 became the first person to receive a degree from the U.B.C. of Doctor of Philosophy in Botany.

TAUGHT AT U.B.C.

Prior to becoming the curator of botany in the Provincial Museum at Victoria he taught biology and botany at the U.B.C. and has written many periodicals and books on Canadian flora.

Dr. Szczawinski was a principal in the formation of the Arboretum Society and the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary which is the first of its kind in B.C.

In his study and search for many wild flowers in this province he has explored untraveller parts of B.C. extensively.

NOTES FROM

Experimental Station

By N. V. TONKS.

Recently the garden symphylan has been causing damage to a number of crops on Vancouver Island and in the Lower Mainland areas.

In addition to a number of more earthy and less printable names, this pest has been variously called the garden centipede, the garden symphylid, or just plain symphylid, but its official common name is now "Garden Symphylan."

These creatures are not true insects, but are small, white, very active insect-like animals about 1/4 to 1/2 inch long. They spend their entire life in the ground.

Infested fields usually show typical target areas scattered throughout the field. Within these areas the plant growth is sparse or stunted.

FEED ON SEEDS

Symphylans feed primarily on germinating seeds, seedlings, roots and root hairs. They can also injure turnip and beet tubers, and fruit and forage in contact with the soil.

There are a great many host plants, including most vegetables, many ornamentals and flowers, and strawberries. Grains and grasses, when they are able to develop good root systems in the field can usually resist symphylan attacks.

In the coastal areas of British Columbia, symphylans can be found fairly close to the soil surface early in the spring. These pests usually become most abundant in mid-summer, and remain active until cold rainy weather drives them deeper in the soil.

Symphylans apparently can penetrate to the rather amazing depth of five or six feet in soils where no solid barriers occur. Dry soil conditions also cause these pests to move down into the soil.

As with many garden pests, good agricultural practices favour the build up of symphylans. Irrigated soils well fortified with moisture holding materials make it possible for them to feed in the upper soil zone during the growing season.

Inspection at Comox

Members of Sidney's No. 676 Air Cadet Squadron are seen with the commanding officer, Flt.-Lt. J. R. Hannan during their visit to the R.C.A.F. station at Comox last year. This week more than half the squadron will leave for a two-day visit again.

ANNUAL VISIT

Air Cadets Become Airmen For Two Days At Comox Base

A score or so of boys from North Saanich and Central Saanich will become airmen for two days this week. They are the members of the Sidney Air Cadet Squadron who will travel to Comox on Thursday morning to spend two days in barracks at the R.C.A.F. station there.

The air cadets will leave early on Thursday morning in service transport. Arriving at Comox around midday, they will march to the airmen's mess, where they will be served lunch.

The afternoon and part of the evening will be engaged in various sports activities. On Friday the symphylans have been difficult to achieve. Roto-tillage tends to scatter them and reduce their number somewhat by breaking up natural soil runways.

As the only control however, roto-tillage is limited in effectiveness. A great many chemicals have been tried with very little success.

Ordinary soil insecticides, such as aldrin or heptachlor or DDT, appear to have little effect. Recently, however, certain newer compounds have shown promise. Since these are new compounds, they require thorough testing before being recommended for use on crops.

However, it is hoped that before long good control measures will be available for general use in plantings where the garden symphylan has become a serious problem.

cadets will join the various squadrons from Vancouver Island and take part in a ceremonial parade to be inspected by the station commander.

Facilities will be provided for entertainment and recreation as well as the formal competitive programs laid on.

On Friday afternoon the cadets will return to Sidney and sleep in their own homes on Friday evening.

The visit to Comox is an annual event and a number of the cadets participating have made the trip several times.

In charge of the cadets will be the commanding officer, Flt.-Lt. J. R. Hannan.

TO DISPLAY NAVIGATION CHARTS IN VICTORIA SHOW

Fishermen and pleasure boat skippers visiting the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce Centennial Exhibition at the Victoria Memorial Arena and the Curling Rink, May 14 to 19, will see a display of charts of waters of the British Columbia Coast.

The charts will be on display as part of an exhibit sponsored by the Canadian Hydrographic Service of the federal department of mines and technical surveys. The exhibit shows how charts are made and what charts are available of Canada's west coast waters.

Supplying volumes of information to seafarers from the four corners of the earth, the Canadian Hydrographic Service is responsible for charting of coastal and inland navigable waters of Canada, the analyses of tides and tidal current phenomena, and the investigation of water-surface elevations of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes Waterway. It publishes the resultant data in the form of official navigation charts, volumes of sailing directions, tide tables, and water level bulletins.

Its fleet comprises eight ships, six large launches, and three chartered vessels. Each year the Canadian Hydrographic Service carries out surveys on Pacific and Atlantic coasts and charts waterways of importance to inland and northern navigation.

The four ships forming the Pacific Coast Fleet are the "William J. Stewart," the "Marabell," the "Parry," and the "Ehkoli."

The booth of the Canadian Hydrographic Service will be in the Curling Rink. Hydrographic staff will be in attendance to answer questions from interested visitors.

Nautical charts are maps designed especially for the sailor and show in detail the depths of water, shore lines, navigational channels, and aids and dangers to navigation. Indexes of Canadian charts, their prices, and other information can be obtained from: the Regional Office, The Canadian Hydrographic Service, 512 Federal Building, Victoria, or from Ottawa.

New Coin To Mark First 100 Years Of Victoria's History

A new coin will shortly be in circulation in Victoria. It is the Kiwanis Centennial Dollar struck by the city service club to commemorate the 100th birthday of the capital city.

The face of the coin depicts the bastion built under the command of Sir James Douglas to form one corner of the original Fort Victoria. The offices of James Richardson and Sons now occupies the site.

Second bastion was at the southeast corner of the fort and the offices of Pemberton Holmes now command the spot.

The dogwood, floral emblem of B.C. is also shown.

On the reverse of the coin a second dogwood is seen with the capital "K" of the Kiwanis.

The coin is a trading dollar and will be accepted at various establishments at its face value, until October 31. They are now available in Sidney.

Mrs. E. F. Maas, formerly of Fifth St., Sidney, and now of Victoria, will demonstrate the making of Papier mache at the Saanich Peninsula Art Centre display at the Sidney Hotel, May 5 and 6. At the same display, Mrs. J. R. Sinclair, Ardwell Road, will make pastel portraits.

Pastor R. W. Prepchuk, of Alert Bay Baptist Mission, visited his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Card, Third St., before leaving for Vancouver.

Ray Prepchuk arrived in Sidney from Ontario recently and hopes to settle in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Skinner, Amelia Ave., are leaving for Ottawa where they will visit their son and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Skinner have lived in Sidney three years and prior to settling in the district called Ottawa their home.

Heather McPhail, of Port Moody, is spending the Easter holidays with her grandmother, Mrs. Ada Green, Wains Cross Road.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swift, Wains Cross Road, were visitors in Vancouver for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Routley and family, of Port Coultam, have been guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gait, Bear Hill.

Mrs. C. M. Walker, of Banff, was a guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Eaton, Craigmyle Motel. Her late husband was engineer in charge of national parks for western Canada.

Miss Margaret Curtis spent the week-end with her father, who resides at Craigmyle Motel.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson, nee Eve Gray, retired to Burnaby after spending the Easter week-end with Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Gilbert, Third St.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McDougall and daughter are staying at Craigmyle Motel while their home in Deep Cove is being renovated.

MORE ABOUT SCHOOLS

are more knowledgeable.

Their minds are more expanded and the new function of education is to keep them expanding.

Mr. Evans said scientific inventions of the past 10 years have brought into use the atom, transistors, computers, jet propulsion and space-propelled machines.

"We are now living in the space age," he said, "and a whole new concept of education is required."

Students must be dedicated to achieve a successful university program, said Mr. Evans. Grade 9 students with C plus mark have not much chance of passing into university. They must graduate at university level from grade 12, he said, adding that universities will not accept students without proven scholastic ability.

Mr. Evans noted that student morale is not equal to the proposed change.

A house system is being introduced, he said, in an effort to develop spirit, and create an understanding of the need to accept this new concept of education.

KINETTES CATER TO OVER 100 AT INTER-CLUB DINNER HELD IN SIDNEY

The Kinettes Club of Sidney catered to over 100 Kinsmen at the annual interclub banquet held this year in the Sidney Kinsmen Air Cadet Hall. Since there is no kitchen in the hall, the complete turkey dinner with all the trimmings was brought hot from different homes.

In her report at the April meeting of the Kinettes Club, held recently at the home of Mrs. G. Ay-lard, Wains Cross Road, Mrs. T. Sparling gave special praise to her committee of Mrs. G. Campbell, Mrs. G. Flint, Mrs. A. Moffoot and Mrs. F. Daugherty, although all the Kinettes helped in the serving and cleaning up.

Also at the meeting, it was decided that five Kinettes will attend the three-day Kinsmen convention in Penticton with their husbands. Two members volunteered to work on a display for the convention, showing the Kinettes' yearly activities.

DANCE RECITAL Mrs. G. Flint passed out tickets for the Rae Burns Dance Recital which will be sponsored by the Sidney Kinettes. The recital will be held at 8.30 p.m., Friday, June 8 at Sanscha Hall. Tickets are obtainable from any Kinettes, the prices being 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for students. Coffee and cupcakes will be served.

The Kinettes decided to give $10 cheques to two needy families as

On Saturday evening, April 28, Marilyn Maude, eldest daughter of Mrs. J. E. Iverson, Graham Ave., and Torie M. Hansen, of the west coast of Vancouver Island, will be married at Bethel Baptist Church.

Easter gifts instead of the usual hampers.

President Shirley Daugherty spoke on the aims and purposes of the club. This led to a lively discussion in which all members participated. It was felt that all gained a firmer idea of Kinsmanship.

After the meeting coffee and sandwiches were served to the 12 members present. The door prize was won by Mrs. M. Slegg.

The May meeting will be held at Mrs. T. Sparling's home on Harbour Road.

YOUNG SINGER WINS AWARDS

John Howe, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Howe, Bardsey Road, Central Saanich, won two first prizes and one fourth prize in the vocal section of the recent Victoria music festival. The talented young singer is being congratulated by his friends for this outstanding achievement.
